Subject Headings Additions

New subject headings have been added to better describe some deposits in the area of criminal justice:

- Law enforcement and the courts:
  Crime: Anti-drug programs
- Law enforcement and the courts:
  Crime: Crime prevention
- Law enforcement and the courts:
  Crime: Law enforcement methods
- Law enforcement and the courts:
  Crime: Recidivism
- Laws and regulations:
  State statutes: Drug laws
- Social issues and problems:
  Aging: Elder abuse

For a full list of subject headings, visit finditillinois.org/metadata/subjtree.pdf. Remember, a topic may appear under more than one major heading.

Also note that the subject headings assigned should pertain specifically to the document being deposited.

If you think you may need additional subject headings to adequately describe your agency’s publications, please contact us. Arrangements will be made to accommodate your needs.

EDI Depositor Training

Thursday, Jan. 10 & Tuesday, Feb. 19

Illinois State Library
5th-floor training room

Because of limited seating, training is on a first-come, first-served basis. Thank you to participating agencies for sharing their employees’ time to collaborate with the State Library in preserving their agencies’ electronic publications.

If you know of anyone who should be trained to deposit state electronic documents, please refer them to the Continuous Learning Opportunities site at finditillinois.org to register. If the person who makes deposits for your agency is changing, the new person with the responsibility should be trained.

For training outside of Springfield, please contact Connie Frankenfeld at 217-782-5432 or cfrankenfeld@ilsos.net.

Thanks for Your Patience

Please pardon the delays in processing deposits. State Library employees have been assisting with other projects in the department, but nothing is more important than your agencies’ publications.

It is just a matter of time before your deposits become a permanent part of the depository collection. Thank you for your patience.

We Are Your Library

The Illinois State Library is the library for state government employees and elected officials. For assistance with your information needs, please contact: Ask?Away virtual reference and other online services at finditillinois.org or Reference Desk: 217-782-7596
